Energy and Cleantech

Providing innovative financial solutions

Cleantech is the new business of solutions - so is Grant Thornton

Grant Thornton is one of Ireland's leading professional services firms, acting on behalf of private developers, investors and financial institutions. We have advised on over €700 million of renewable energy financings.

Our Energy and Cleantech team provides access to a wide range of services across advisory, tax and assurance to support our clients looking to build a sustainable and viable future. We work closely with our international network to offer a global service to our clients.

For ten years we've measured success just one way: we only win when our clients win.

Peter McArdle
Head of Energy and Cleantech
