Financial Services Advisory

FinTech

At Grant Thornton, our FinTech offering supports Financial Services firms and FinTechs in taking targeted steps towards innovating their business models, products, services and experiences. We leverage cutting edge technologies such as machine learning, artificial intelligence, big data analytics, blockchain, distributed ledger technology and emerging deep tech solutions.

Financial Services firms have an exciting opportunity to augment their offering. Adopting new technologies will not only give firms a competitive edge, but it also presents a chance to integrate innovation into their corporate culture.

In order to grasp these exciting opportunities, firms need to ensure that they take an informed, strategic and risk based approach to identify the right opportunities for them and their customers.
